O Say What a Sight!

...And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air," held the annual July 4th crowd entranced as usual on the dikes at Palooka Harbor, rounding off the nation's 198th birthday celebration which had been marked in various places throughout the Glades by barbecues and picnics featuring succulent roasted pigs, watermelon, three-legged races and pie-eating contests. A belated offering of fireworks was made earlier this week also when local residents were treated to the spectacle of, junk or a meteorite Monday evening which may have played into Lake Okechobee.

City Voters Urged to Register

Belle Glade City Clerk Vera Jones is finding there's some difference between the names on voter registration books and finding the people those names belong to.

For the first time in history, Belle Glade's city election on Sept. 10 will be held with the voter registration books under the control of Palm Beach County Supervisor of Elections Jackie Winchester.

This means that anyone wanting to vote in the upcoming city election for the city's two at-large candidates must be registered with both the city and county in order to get his or her ballot.

To make sure everyone knew about the new requirement, Mrs. Jones said this week she contacted Mrs. Winchester to get a list of all the voters in the city's old books which aren't registered in the same precinct with the county.

As of Wednesday, Mrs. Jones said she had received a list of 2,673 names of people registered to vote in the last city election who weren't registered with the county and she had mailed each of these voters a letter telling of the new requirement.

As of the same time, about 200 of those letters had been returned by the Postal Service because the letter carriers hadn't been able to deliver them.

"Make no wonder where they are, don't it," Mrs. Jones said, "refusing through stack of returned envelopes a good eight inches high.

Mrs. Jones emphasized that unless the persons the envelopes are addressed to are found and found in time, or they know to register with the county at the Glades Office Building, they will not be allowed to vote at the fire station on election day.

Another new requirement made by state law shortens the time those people have of making sure they can vote.

Coming under the new ruling, Mrs. Jones said the prospective voters must register a full 45 days before the election takes place, making July 27 the last day to register.

Still another change is that persons wishing to vote can no longer register at the city hall annex, where they have registered in years past for city elections.

Now, they must go to the Glades Office Building. There is no alternative, Mrs. Jones said.

Mrs. Winchester said several months ago if city voters could still register in the annex but Mrs. Jones said she decided because of lack of space and help.

"When the new city hall is built," she said, "we'll consider it again but right now, there's just no way we can do it."

Because the city election falls on the same date as the first primary for the general election, there was originally some doubt about whether the city could still hold its election the five states as usual.

But Mrs. Jones said she had made arrangements with Mrs. Winchester to keep the city election and the county election that day separate so if voters wish to vote in both city and county elections, they'll have to visit two precincts.

No Candidates Yet

With the first week of qualifying for three city commission races half gone, there were still no definite candidates for the South Bay City election set for Sept. 5.

The seats up for election are being currently filled by Mayor Verlan Cox and Commissioner Keith Berry and John T. Denton.

Neither Denton nor Miss Berry were available for comment but Denton has earlier indicated he will seek re-election.

Mrs. Cox said Wednesday morning she is still unsure about whether she will run for her next term.

"I think that is a couple of days," Mrs. Cox said. "I'm going to go around town to get the feel of the people. If the people feel the same way they did two years ago, I'll probably run."

Miss Berry had been out of town for several days and hasn't indicated to the Herald whether she'll seek re-election.

The last day potential voters may register for election, according to a new state law requiring voters to register 45 days before an election, will be July 20.

In the meantime, voters who must register with the city election, may register at either the Glades Office Building or City Hall, with one registration enabling them to vote in both city election and the in the county-wide election on Sept. 10.

According to a special agreement between the city and Palm Beach County, Election Supervisor Jackie Winchester, voters will cast their ballots in both elections in city hall.

The last day potential candidates may qualify to run for a seat on the commission will be Aug. 28. In order to file, a candidate must be a bona fide city elector and pay a one-dollar filing fee.

At the time of filing, a candidate must also state his campaign treasurer and campaign depository.

To Satisfy U. S. Rules Sugar Industry Looks For 1974 Cane Cutters

The Glades sugar industry is looking for sugar cane cutters and other agricultural workers for the 1974-75 season this week by taking out half-page advertisements in newspapers around Lake Okechobee.

The ads are being placed by the Florida State Employment Service Office in Belle Glade and indicate the work is going to begin Aug. 12. Interviews are scheduled to begin at the local office on Aug. 5 and 6 and Steve Becker of the office said orders have also been placed on the state worker's statewide job bank.

The effort is required by the U.S. Department of Labor as prerequisite to certifying sugar producers to import British West Indian cane cutters from Jamaica and other offshore islands to harvest the area's multi-million dollar crop.

What is beginning as primarily a local effort will be the next few weeks spread in state-wide recruiting drive and, if it follows the form of recent years, will eventually expand to cover states as far away as Texas and California. The ads specify the minimum wage of $2.15 per hour for workers recruited during the drive but Becker pointed out that by the time the workers actually begin work, the minimum wage required by the U.S. Department of Agriculture may be higher.

The first effort are usually directed toward the early job of cutting cane and replanting it before the regular harvest season begins.

The cost for the recruiting campaign is being underwritten by sugar producers who import laborers through the Florida Sugar Growers Association and the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association.

The first steps of the drive, according to Becker, are being organized by Earl Morrison, of the personnel department of the U.S. Sugar Corp.

To Lake Shore Busbee Named

If the Palm Beach County School Board approved Tim Busbee Wednesday night (after the Herald went to press) as Lake Shore Junior High principal, it will be the young educator's fifth post in as many years in the Glades.

Busbee returned from out-of-town to the Glades Tuesday to get his first official word of Superintendent Joseph Carroll's recommendation that he be named to replace former Principal Charles McCurdy, who was recently named the new Glades Central principal.

"The only thing I know," Busbee said Tuesday, "is what I've read in the papers. Jim Maynor (West Area Superintendent) mentioned it to me but I didn't know it was this far along."

Busbee said he was hired in 1960 by Palm Morris, then principal of Belle Glade High School, and began work as a teacher in 1970 but has changed positions every year since then.

McCurdy, on the other hand, began his tenure as principal at what was then Lake Shore High School in 1965 and maintained his post until 1970, when he became principal of the Lake Shore Campus of Glades Central and was named the junior high principal in 1971.

"Tim is a very capable young administrator," Carroll said Monday. "I felt he could go in there (Lake Shore) and make things move. He's a young administrator on the way up."

"I've always been impressed," Carroll said in commenting on Busbee's youth, "that they went down 80 places through the ranks to pick Eisenhower (for Supreme Allied Commander in Europe during World War II)."

Carroll also pointed out, however, that McCurdy's placement as Glades Central Principal is the result of a court ruling which is under appeal.

He also pointed out that Busbee's appointment to the Lake Shore job must still be approved by the county school board, which was due to meet Wednesday night.

The former Marine helicopter pilot, who now serves in Vietnam, began his educational career in the Glades as a teacher and junior varsity football coach.

In 1971, he was chosen to head up the county's first Community School Program but left that position in 1972-73 to be assigned in Pupil Personnel in the West Area Administrative Office and get his master's degree at Florida Atlantic University.

Last fall, he was named Media Utilization Specialist.

Data Bank Being Formed

Efforts to locate women to volunteer to serve on a variety of public service boards in the Glades will shift into high gear in the near future when forms will become available at the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

The forms, designed to find out what interests and qualified women can be made aware that they are needed and wanted as an asset in community development, that our City Commissioners would be happy to find them willing to serve.

The forms are being kept simple by the commission, basically soliciting information on the applicant's interests and her abilities. "Please let me make the definite point," Mrs. Boots said, "that the commission has no intention of breaching the Belle Glade City Commission into appointing women to any board or advisory group."

We simply want to make available to them," she said, "a list of interested and qualified women to make 'Others.' Mrs. Boots wrote the chamber directors, "our own city commissioners have difficulty in getting 'good' men to serve on local boards, since the work is volunteer and at the same time very important to our community."

As a group," she said, "the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, the State of Women, the Florida Sugar Growers Association and the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association.

Another Weekly Winner

Lameal Barrio of 118 S. E. Third St. North became the fourth weekly winner in the Belle Glade Herald's Walt Disney World contest Monday when George Borch of Lake Hardware (above) presented him with a pocket knife guaranteed for a year against loss. Now that he's won a weekly prize, Barrio's name will go back into a barrel containing the more than 5,000 slips from which the grand prize winner will be drawn. The grand prize will be a trip to Walt Disney World valued at more than $400. There's only three more weeks left in the contest, so hurry on down to the participating merchants and fill out another slip.

Keep it Clean

It's the time of year again when Glades residents can start expecting the annual snowstorm of posters, leaflets and cards extolling the virtues of whoever for city commission seats in Belle Glade or South Bay. Monday was the first day for candidates to qualify for any of three commission seats up for grabs in South Bay and anyone wanting a crack at either of the two at-large seats on the Belle Glade commission can make his bid Friday.

We said it last year and we'll say it again this year. The political water may be warm but jump on in because competition is up and politics healthy.

The residents of both cities deserve only the best to represent them in the most local of governments and a political race is one place where "the more the merrier" has a ring of truth.

But let's keep it clean when the candidates come out swinging. And we mean clean in more ways than one.

Just as we don't believe any candidate worthy of the name should stoop to mud-slinging, we also believe the candidates should clean up after themselves.

Year-old campaign posters don't make the most attractive fruit in the world for trees, utility poles and the sides of buildings.

One of the impressive things about last year's Belle Glade election was that a week afterwards, three of the candidates had taken down all of their posters.

That was a giant step in the right direction but it was that anyone who thinks enough of their city to run for office should think enough of it to clean up the mess he's made in that effort.

Womanpower!

In these days when everyone is becoming aware of the energy crisis, one group is tapping a source that's hardly been touched yet...the American Housewife.

The Commission on the Status of Women of Palm Beach County is establishing a "talent bank" of women throughout the county who want to become involved in their communities.

A commission member Sandy Boots inferred recently in a letter to the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, the city commission may be wasting its time looking "for a few good men" to handle various voluntary tasks when there's such a tremendous reservoir of womanpower out there.

Mrs. Boots is a prime example of the talent available. She and women like her have already made huge valuable contributions to the community in beautification projects, last year's Christmas parade, the first two Glades walkathons for the March of Dimes, the city's library and various medical services.

The list could be added to by quite a few more contributions...and not one of the women involved in the projects named received a dime in compensation while providing millions of dollars of energy, talent and expertise.

And that oughta be enough to convince the most dyed in the wool male chauvinist.

Well, I finally got around to going out to one of your ladies' softball games the other night and I'll have to admit it was different.

With the vice-president of the league working in the same office, it's a little hard not to take some notice of what's happening and the chances of ignoring it are nil.

Particularly when Karen is that president in charge of vice for the league.

I guess I was really ready for baseball instead of slow-pitch softball but even then, I don't think I was quite ready for ten-man (pardon me ladies, ten-person) teams.

Found out later that tenth member of the team is called a roving fielder or hog-holder if you prefer. That's what one infielder called her anyway. Seems the rover has a tendency to scarf up on flies knocked just any of 'em.

Just had to come up with the new name of Hog Manservant for our local softball fanatic.

But some people can't be satisfied with the excitement normally created by the game (being played between the two best teams in the league I was told. Course I was told by a member of the winning team).

Or maybe it wasn't the craving for excitement. Maybe Julie Kornyak just felt the need for a little attention but I thought coming on the field on crutches sporting three fresh new stitches was going overboard.

On the other hand, maybe she really didn't see that broken beer bottle she stepped on before the game began. Maybe she was an honest victim of these idiots who can't go anywhere without throwing empties all over the place.

But the least they could do would be to make sure the empties were in one place.

I think, though, the person who was even more upset about the whole thing than Julie was Tommy Snyder, the Wallis coach.

You'd better believe my Dad's going to hear about this in the morning. Tommy said more than once. Tommy's dad just happens to be Ron Snyder, Lion of the Year and the city's buildings and parks supervisor.

Tommy had the idea the city has a nice field but is letting it run down and went a little further. He said it seems the city could have a crew rake up the area occasionally.

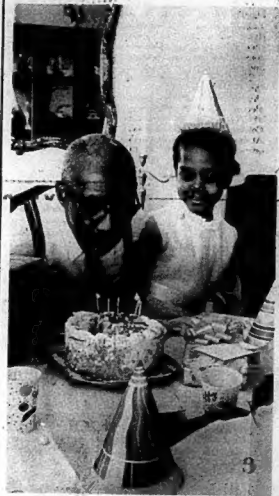

Consider yourself notified, Ron but I will say this.

It's a shame more people can't get together in places like the Little League Field without throwing junk all over the ground. But even then, there's junk and there's junk.

"...and you can quote me"

by Carletha Taylor

I stand for good things in America, but not for all things that in America are considered right-normal-par-for-the-course.

Talking with Jessie and Bob earlier tonight, I was reminded, through some nauseating shove from my subconscious, of an experience I had about three weeks ago.

Once upon a time...

I went along with a friend to buy a chair for another friend. And, thanks to "the powers that be, or the generously high prices of furniture, we were rewarded for our choice (of stores) with a gift—a crystal-like decanter.

Happy with our new-found treasure, we decided we'd browse around one what downtown Belle Glade had to offer. Thought of Monica (my eight-month-old niece), and headed for a "baby store."

A tinkle sounded somewhere near the handle of the door as we walked in. "May I help you," came the voice from behind the circular rack of marked-down items. Pushing the heavy door inside to clear the way for our entry, I stood one foot not yet having entered the store.

"No thank you," I replied, feeling a gust of wind behind me as the door swung close. "I'd just like to look around some." Surely she couldn't help me with that, I thought and smiled briefly.

But she tried.

As we approached the double-door, entering a store and instantly being cast in the role of the "potential thief," someone to be watched very carefully, instead of the prospective buyer.

I stared, confident I could best her at that. And make her feel just about as uncomfortable as she was making me feel by lagging along behind me like my dog sometimes does when he's hungry.

"No caught herself—maybe realizing there was no match for me at starting, huh?" she asked me in a voice that could have charmed the wings off an angel. When I ignored her, instead admiring an orange, yellow and white playboy-perfect for Monica—she went on. "Did somebody give it to you?"

"Silence."

"Why?" I asked in a husky, crackling voice—the kind you wake up with. I tightly held the neck of my shirt.

"Oh, I was just wondering where you got it from!" was her reply.

"Did you want to buy one?" I asked.

"No," she said. "I was just..."

"Then, it doesn't concern you," I said, replacing the playboy in the first vacant spot I found and heading for the door.

"She stood motionless. Didn't bother to trail my footsteps as moments before I was pleased with myself. I had won that round."

Many people—mostly black and mostly poor—will understand the between-the-line implications of my experience while probably recognizing this episode as similar to ones they've encountered before a store and instantly being cast in the role of the "potential thief," someone to be watched very carefully, instead of the prospective buyer.

Thank You

Dear Sir:

I just wanted to drop you a line to thank you for sending the Herb Association so much excellent coverage in the Herald's most recent edition.

That editorial was so nice and what a pleasant surprise to see a news article about the unit.

Too many articles over the year have a lot to do with the news of February's fundraising campaign, and we really appreciate your interest.

Again, thank you. Sincerely,

Virginia McVey

Karen's Korner

I told you so.
Last week I mentioned that it seemed like half of Belle Glade went over to Fort Myers Beach over the holidays and summer vacation and sure enough, everywhere you looked, you could spot someone familiar.
There were three families from Belle Glade just in the place we were staying. Shows how much sense we Belle Glade Crackers have, getting over there and soaking up some of that sunshine on the coast.
I did it systematically this time. Usually I end up being lobster read or either my back or my stomach and pale on the other, but not this time. Nope, I have it all figured out. Thursday I laid on my back all day but didn't overdo it but just a little bit. Friday I flopped on my stomach so I could get some of that good ole Vitamine D on my back; Saturday I got on my back again and then Sunday I switched sides again.
And it worked. I now have the tan I've been waiting for all summer. So what if it's tinged with a little bit of red, it's still mostly tan and not burn. Oh yeah, between those lying down positions I did manage to swim in the pool often and catch a movie and go shopping and of course—eat.
I guess while I'm on the subject of the beach and swimming in general, there ought to be a few facts and suggestions to pass along, such as the safety in swimming.
Everyone has probably read or heard about the tragedy which struck the Edward Horne family last week when on a boating excursion to the Bahamas.
In case you haven't, the whole family was taking a cruise to the Bahamas when a storm struck them out in the Gulf of Mexico and capsize the boat. The mother and father strapped everyone together, around a life ring and they floated in the ocean for nearly 13 hours before the Coast Guard finally spotted them.

Only trouble was, the sharks found the family at the same time—and they were closer. So much closer in fact that they had time to attack one of the children and severely maul the little boy's leg. Moments later, the lad bled to death. One other child died also Edward Horne Jr., age three, of exposure.
Tragedies like that make you stop and think—it could happen to you. I know it's a big word, but WHAT IF the family had kept a life-raft on the boat, and they were able to use it to float in instead of having to hang on to a dinky little life-saving ring.
After I heard and read about the disaster I did a little reading up on shark attacks and found that sharks do not really like aggression. One author said that if you are alone out in the water and sharks begin circling you, lie flat in the water, and the best thing to do if there a group of people out (such as the Hornes), to lock hands and arms together and form a ring in the water at the same time extending your legs to the center of the circle.
Another author states that sharks are really not aggressive and are shy attacking something thrashing wildly in the water; therefore if you find yourself in this situation, thrash your arms and legs wildly and the sharks should back off. Of course, you never know until you're confronted with the situation.
One good rule to follow about swimming never swim alone. It's always good to have help when help is needed.

Match for Mangoes

Belle Glade Red Bones Emerge Victor over Hawks

BY Corbado Taylor
Herald Staff Writer

It was a "match for mangoes" Monday night as the Red Bones of Belle Glade emerged the 2-point victor over the Blue Hawks of Pahokee.

Both basketball teams are products of the area's community schools "Adult League," said summer sports supervisor Eddie Rhodes, who manned the scoreboard. There are three additional teams in the league—two in Belle Glade and one in Okeechobee Center. School administrator Daniel Brydwood officiated the game, played according to semi-professional rules with 10-minute quarters.

Flanked by small groups of friends and admirers, both teams jogged onto the shiny basketball court of the Lake Shore Junior High School Gymnasium donning new uniforms provided by the community schools.

There was little time for practice shots, as the teams formed their familiar semi-circles and advanced — one-by-one — to the goal to kick the ball inside, much to the frantic delight of a crowd of nearly 500 spectators, who yelled the best and roared in jubilation for their favorite players.

The game came alive with activity when Pahokee trumped it to an easy lead, scoring the first basket of the game. Belle Glade retaliated within minutes, scoring four points, which they maintained throughout most of the game.

Threatened by the bold offensive shooting and re-petitive shooting and rebounding of All-State player Andre Jones of Pahokee, the Red Bones capitalized on the performances of All-State Marvin Allen of Glades Central and David Jones.

At half-time, Belle Glade closed a 24-7 lead over Pahokee. The tall, sweat-drenched sportsman made their way to the stage area for consultation with the coaches and a little rest.

The Red Bones dominated the third quarter and part of the fourth due to team shooting and rebounding of Allen, Jones, Charles Colbrook and Michael Wallace.

At one point during the fourth quarter, Belle Glade led by 10.

points. The final score was 90-88.

Leading in scoring were Marvin Allen, 23 points; Andre Jones, 27 points; David Jones, 20 points; Charles Colbrook, 17 points; Henry Pickett and Terry Greenfield, 16 points each.

Players cited for their outstanding contributions in Monday night's game were: David Jones (Belle Glade) and Jack Emanuel (Pahokee), best defensive players; and most valuable players, Marvin Allen (Belle Glade) and Andre Jones (Pahokee).

Their prizes—Mangoes! The teams will meet again Wednesday night in Pahokee.

THE BELLE GLADE RED BONES DIDN'T EXACTLY RAMP, BUT WON anyway over the Pahokee Blue Hawks, 90-88 in a free-wheeling melee here.

WALLIS PHARMACY TAKES Over as Timesaver Falls

The biggest game of the season happened Monday night, July 8 as two undefeated teams squared off against each other in a fight for first place. Wallis Pharmacy, defending champions for the past six years, started off early as Ronnie Pike, Danny Cross, Frances McLeod, Judy Snyder and Karen Hansford rounded the bases, making five runs to lead Timesaver, the undefeated team from Pahokee.

The Wallis players also proved their worth in the field as they played a solid game and made a double play to prevent Timesaver from scoring any runs. Under play Timesaver held on to make three consecutive outs over Wallis, keeping the other team from adding any more runs. But they failed to make any runs as the first up Wallis made another double play in the second inning.

The Timesaver players got their first run in the game in the third inning as Judy Carlson and Diane Stevens each scored. But Wallis made another double play in the third and one in the fourth to widen the lead right to ten.

Each team made a run in the fifth when May Lou Stevens rounded the bases for Timesaver and Karen Hansford scored for Wallis. Annette Davis made Wallis only run in the sixth and Joanne Rawls added one for Timesaver also making the score 10 to four, in favor of Wallis. Ronnie Pike slammed a triple way out in left field, but failed to score as the Timesaver players made a double play.

Barbara Mole and Karen Hansford added another two runs for Wallis in the last inning, but Timesaver came back with two runs also, as Diane Stevens and Lynda Moss scored.

However, it wasn't enough for Timesaver as Wallis Pharmacy took over the title of first place team and Timesaver dropped to a tie for second in second place with Royal's.

The third week of Women's Slow-Pitch Softball games began Monday night, July 1 with the undefeated team Wallis Pharmacy pitted against Decola, the league's new addition this season.

Oceola, who had lost only one game so far, played a tight game, holding the Wallis players to no score in the first inning and only one run in the second, when Barbara Mole scored. Then they covered the bases with one run by Gail Harper and added four more in the third to take the lead over Wallis, four to one.

One of the lesser known but most successful organizations on Florida's agricultural scene is Florida Foundation Seed Producers Inc. The foundation seed corporation could be called one of the most successful bootstrap operations in Florida.

Foundation Seed Producers Inc. is the important link between breeders of plants and producers who actually raise the crops based on plant research of new varieties.

It is the direct link between growers, the Agricultural Research Center, and the Agricultural Experiment Station on campus of the University of Florida.

The research organizations develop seed and nursery stock

Florida Foundation Seed Producers raise new varieties of seed and nursery stock in quantities useful to seed producers and maintains the foundation stock. Seed producers then provide foundation seed to growers under the state seed certification program.

The seed certification program is administered by the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

Florida Foundation Seed Producers, Inc. is a non-profit organization founded in 1967. It is an outgrowth of the Florida Crop Improvement Association.

Following a one-time $20,000

Following a one-time $30,000 state appropriation to enable the seed producers corporation to purchase seed processing equipment, the corporation has been entirely self-sufficient in its operations. The seed, mostly of peanut varieties, the corporation produces in its warehouse, processing plant and office space in Marianna with $40,000 worth of seed purchased from other producers.

Crops which the seed producers corporation handles include such crops as corn, soybeans, tobacco, cotton, beans, sweetcorn, celery, peas, vetches, grapes, blackberries, alfalfa, clover, and several types of grasses for lawns and pasture use.

At present, the corporation makes from seed sales go to support university research. And if the corporation is successful in selling its assets will be turned over to the university.

Consumers may have little knowledge of work of this corporation. I can assure you, however, that an important link in the process of providing food, in any agricultural endeavor, the seed comes first.

The Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service is preparing to release parasites of the Caribbean fruit fly Friday, July 12, in several areas within the county suffering fruit damage by the pest.

The parasites are being reared at the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center in Homestead under the direction of Dr. R.M. Baranowski in cooperation with Dr. A.K. Barditt, Subtropical Horticulture Research Station, Agricultural Research Service, U.S.D.A., Miami.

These releases are a part of an extensive biological control program directed at suppressing the Caribby populations. The parasite to be released is known scientifically as Opius longicaudatus. It is tan in color and about the size of a

The female has a long ovipositor at the end of her abdomen with which she inserts eggs into fruit fly larvae. The exact method by which she is able to find the fruit fly larva burrowing in Infested fruit is not known, but it is believed that the female parasite is able to detect a host fruit produced by the fruit fly larva.

This phenomenon is currently being investigated by Dr. Patrick George of the U.S.D.A. Insect Attractants, Behavior and Basic Biology Research Laboratory, Gainesville. Once the female detects the fruit fly larva she inserts the ovipositor through the fruit skin and into the larva and deposits an egg.

The fruit fly larva continues to grow with the fruit until it has completed its development, then emerges from the fruit.

Opisus longicaudus does not bite, sting or otherwise bother man, pets or other animals. It is not a pest of stored food and cannot survive without them. Thus it is essential that infested fruit or other food items be removed from the area at the time the infestation is first detected.

It is strongly emphasized that this is NOT an eradication program. The utilization of biological control agents such as Opisus is only a means to help to eliminate the Caridflies. Evidence from releases in Dade County indicates that the populations can be reduced, but not eliminated (see sidebar, "biological"). This parasite, like

Florida To Benefit From Occidental Russian Deal

It appears that Florida will be one of the major beneficiaries of the deal between Occidental Petroleum and three organizations in the Soviet Union. Long-term contracts for two-way trade are valued at approximately $30 billion, and some of that money will find its way into Florida bank accounts.

Occidental plans to sell about one million tons of superphosphate acid to the Russians each year for 20 years. In return, the Russians will sell Occidental some 1.5 million tons of ammonia, 1.5 million tons of urea and about one million tons of potash.

In addition, Occidental will design, equip and construct two ports in Russia to handle the agricultural chemicals and that will cost about $100 million, which Russia will pay for with more ammonia.

Initial benefits to Florida will be in the development of new phosphate mines to tap the rich deposits of phosphate rock in the Lake City area, which will mean increased work

A Southern superstition warns that you should never put a letter in your girl friend's left hand, or your friendship will come to an end... on a bad note!

applications of fertilizer this year. It is expected that domestic supply will be adequate again by 1976 and deliveries of Russian ammonia, urea and potash starting in 1976 will further increase the supply and we hope will help to bring down an inordinately high price that is squeezing farmers these days.

Fertilizer is essential to producing enough food to feed a growing world population. Increases in the production of fertilizer will allow the United States, Canada, Russia and India to produce enough food to meet the growing demand.

Government figures show that farmers used 11.6 million tons of fertilizer in the year ending June 30, 1973, an increase of four per cent from the previous year, so it would appear that the Occidental imports would be more than enough to meet the increasing domestic demand and have a surplus to sell to other countries—at today's prices, a gold mine for U.S. exporters.

agument Area, thanks to a lifting of restrictions following the recent summer rains, according to Major Louis F. Gentry of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

While the portion of Conservation Area Three off limits to vehicular traffic, due to a lack of available cover, the track and about operators are now allowed to enter all of Conservation Area Three and that portion of Area Three south of the Alley.

The original restrictions were imposed due to extreme fire hazards existing early in the year. In keeping with the Commission policy of providing the most recreational opportunities to the largest numbers of specimens, additional areas will be opened to new vegetation growth and increased water levels.

Inquiring Gardener

Q. My neighbors are dying. The leaves are covered with a powdery, white material. What is wrong?

A. Downy mildew is a very serious disease of cucumbers and can also be found in other cool or warm weather, especially if the humidity is high. The cucumber varieties Ashley and Felicitas are resistant to this disease and should be planted when possible.

Q. How can I prevent fungus disease on my vegetables?

A. As we mentioned with cucumbers, the best answer is to use resistant varieties. In order to prevent fungus disease you must keep a cutting of a fungicide over the vegetable leaves, stems and fruit. This is the reason it is important to have a regular spray schedule. Usually a weekly spray is necessary, however, if conditions are favorable such as rainy, cloudy weather the plant should be sprayed every three to four days. Some of the most effective fungicides are Dithane M-45, or Farn, Daconil or Dero, manab (Manzanil), and Zineb (Dithane Z-78 or Parzate-G).

Q. I am interested in making a terrarium, can you help me?

A. Yes! Terrariums are becoming more and more popular as increasing numbers of people are living in apartments, condominiums, and other areas where gardening space is at a premium. A terrarium is a miniature garden enclosed in glass. Almost any kind of a clear glass container can be used - a round glass bowl, aquarium, large-mouth bottle, apothecary jar, or whatever you have. Terrariums produce a virtually a more or less ideal atmosphere for growing some even plants that could not survive in the normally dry atmosphere of the average home.

The type of container you select will be governed by several factors. Choose one suitable to the room where it will be used. One not adapted to a certain situation because of shape or size will lose its effectiveness. Containers with large openings are easier to plant, however, even small mouthed jars can be planted with the help of long dowels or wires to arrange the plants.

Materials you will need, in addition to the container, potted soil, fine gravel, granulated charcoal, a funnel if container has a small neck; and, of course, the plants. In addition, 1/4 inch dowel rods or clothes hanger wire, long enough to reach the areas that you cannot reach with your hands. To make the dowel rods more efficient, plastic spoons to the ends to make small rakes and spades to better manipulate the plants in the terrarium. A small piece of sponge tied to a dowel is helpful in removing surplus moisture or small particles of dirt from the inside of the container.

The color of plants is wide. Seeds of herbs may be planted directly into the terrarium and they will sprout in just a few days. Plants could include ferns, evergreen seedlings, spiky, ivy, begonia, peperomia, small varieties of calceolarias, dracaena, or almost any small plant that can tolerate the humid conditions of the terrarium.

First, place about one inch of small gravel in the bottom of the container. Excess water will filter down into the gravel and remain there as in a reservoir, gradually returning to the soil by capillary movement as the soil on top dries out. A small amount of charcoal should be added to keep the atmosphere fresh and prevent souring. On top of this, place the potted soil. Use about 1/4 inch of soil for each inch of height of the container.

One teaspoon of 6-6-6 fertilizer should be added to two quarts of soil and thoroughly mixed before placing in the terrarium.

A glass or plastic cover is necessary for most terrariums to prevent excessive drying out of the soil. The cover is removed from time to time when excessive moisture accumulates on the sides of the container. Remember, water only when necessary and do not place the terrarium in direct sunlight.

Car is not a Plaything

There are several tragic reasons why youngsters should not be allowed to play in or around unoccupied cars. Here are three:

- A three-year old girl, playing in a station wagon with the automatic window controls, put her head out the window and pressed the button that raised it. She choked to death.

- A little boy removed the gasoline cap on a car parked in a driveway. Later, while playing under the car, he struck two stones together, creating a spark that set off an explosion. He was disfigured by burns over his entire body.

- A little girl released the brake on a car parked on a city street. It rolled down the street and struck a woman. She was thrown out the door and fell under the wheels she was crushed.

You can prevent needless tragedies like these by insuring that your parked car is always locked, especially in the driveway.

Resources Destroyed

GAINESVILLE—Today, 95 per cent of our fossil resources—oil, oil and natural gas—are reduced to ashes, totally destroyed, all for the purpose of extracting a small portion of their total real value—their energy content.

This statement comes from Dr. Ole I. Elgard, director of the University of Florida's Electric Energy Engineering Program. Dr. Elgard has been with the department since 1956. He is one of five full time professors who work in the area of energy research.

The question that comes to mind from Dr. Elgard's statement is where do we turn for the needed energy? One source which has been considered is hydro-electric power, energy that can be derived from the nation's rivers.

News From The Home Front

The Belle Glade Herald, July 11, 1974, 1B

Rotary Installs Officers for 1974

New Rotary officers were installed at the regular meeting of the Belle Glade Rotary Club July 8 at the Municipal Civic Center. Officers installed for 1974 included (from left, front row) Robert White as Director A, in charge of club service; Dr. Art Lloyd, the outgoing president; Fred Mixson, the incoming president; John Cawley, vice president; Dr. William L. Davis, Jr., secretary; and Dr. William L. Davis, Jr., treasurer.

charge of vocational service; Gene Badger, treasurer and, in the back row, Ray Roth, secretary; Ralph Murray, community services and Roy Whitehurst, the sergeant at arms. Not present at the meeting was newly installed director of international services Larry Fowler.

Torry, Kreamer Islands Part of FCD Experiment

Torry Island and Kreamer Island soon will be sites for Cypress tree nurseries, if the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District's beautification experiments there are successful.

Zeb Grand, Director of Field

Services for the FCD, said the experiments on the Lake Okechobee island will determine under what conditions the cypress will live and how fast the trees will grow. "If the experiment works the way we hope it will," Grand explained, "we may be able to substitute cypress for the exotic plants now on the islands."

Besides performing the routine tasks of removing aquatic weeds and maintaining the water management structures, the FCD crews have begun planting trees and shrubs at District field stations, pumping stations, selected control structures, FCD rights of way, recreation areas, and bridges crossing District canals.

The beautification program began in 1972 after a request from the FCD's Governing Board to establish a nursery at the West Palm Beach Field Station. FCD surveyman Dick Thomas explained that "an experimental nursery had been housed in a temporary 10 by 30 foot frame structure in the parking lot behind the FCD headquarters."

We want to prove that desirable plants could be grown with little or no effort. Since that humble beginning, the nursery has grown and prospered until it now covers a two-acre area at the field station.

Currently, the nursery contains over 10,000 native shrubs and trees covering at least 50 different varieties. Although some of the plants are obtained as seedlings from other states, most are propagated by cuttings from the original stock purchased in 1972.

From this wide variety of various sizes and types of vegetation, the crews must select the field stations select for landscaping such plants as oak, pine, grapefruit, black olive, seagrape, and many others.

Grand said, "The crews are urged to choose plants that will best enhance the appearance of the grounds, entrance, structures, and public picnic areas." Approximately 50,000 trees will be planted on District rights of way next fiscal year, he said, "not only for aesthetic purposes, but also to help prevent erosion and reduce maintenance costs. So far, the crews have been enthusiastic and creative in their approach to the landscaping."

Although the FCD nursery has already developed greatly since its early parking lot days, the District plans to continue expanding the nursery and improving the beautification program.

Rainy Deficit

Although June managed to send more than twice the amount of rain to Belle Glade as had fallen the first five months of the year, 1974 is still a deficit this normal year.

A total of 13.15 inches of rain fell during June at the Agricultural Research and Education Center at Belle Glade during June, compared to a total of 5.43 inches from Jan. 1 through May 31.

But while June was considerable wetter than normal, there was still a deficit of 5.66 inches compared to rainfall over a 51 year average.

Joe Is One of 300 In Summer Program

by CARTEENA TAYLOR
HERALD STAFF WRITER

He wore a pair of gold tennis shoes that looked like small saucers of fire beneath his tiny brown legs. And he wouldn't tell his name.

He didn't have to though. Indeed across the white rubber floor area of his bright shoes, "Irvin Lee Johnson" was written.

And Joe is two years old. Later, much later, it he retired from the softball diamond, where he had been assisting recreation aide Henry Cooper as pitcher, he held two limp fingers.

In some circles that could have been mistaken for a two-fingered peace sign. But coming from Joe, it was to indicate his age.

The two-year-old Joe is one of nearly 300 children enrolled in the summer enrichment program sponsored jointly by the Palm Beach County School System and the Okeechobee Housing Authority to serve children of all ages from Okeechobee Center.

Program coordinators Walter Walker and Mrs. Jeanne Jenkins have directed the eight-week program halfway through, and the enthusiasm of the kids is heartwarming, said Mrs. Jenkins.

"It's not like school," she continued. "They come in and out, spend a couple of hours, and relax."

Lots of them can't come unless they bring their little sisters and brothers. But that's no problem. There's plenty for them to do.

Marriages usually are spent out of doors on the two-mile-shield and one cheerily marked softball diamond. Pieces of cardboard and even a pair of shoes are used as bases. Markers for games of kick-ball. And homeplate is a piece of wood.

"They're comfortable making their own things—like the bases—to play with," Mrs. Jenkins said. "Somehow they seem to wear better."

Monday was a special day. Near lunchtime, the county's mobile library arrived. And as the early-morning athletes herded into the "Assembly Building" librarians from the mobile unit were setting up equipment to show a film.

The mobile library comes to Okeechobee Center once each week.

After many of the children stood in line for a cooling sip of water from the fountain, they pulled chairs forward to the stage area and quieted for the Monday's feature was "Pete the cat," the "silly goose," who early in the feature, heard someone say, "He who owns books and loves them is wise."

and immediately adopted that philosophy.

After giving faulty advice to "Poor Sad Rooster," "Happy Hen," "Wiley Dog," and "Forsyth Horse," that for each of them ended in near tragedy, Pecunia learned, "It is not enough to carry wisdom under my wing (as she did for the duration of the movie).

"I must put it in my mind and in my heart. I must learn to read."

Time for lunch. One young volunteer led the group of about 100 youngsters in a short prayer—their eyes closed and hands, slightly bowed. And the aides hurriedly passed out bag-lunches, prepared by Community Action Center's summer feeding program.

With much of the outside activity behind them, most of the program participants remained inside the huge recreation building where intense games of play-pool, old maid and other card games, checkers and dancing dominated activity.

"They (children) have a pretty full program here," said Mrs. Jenkins. "Outside, some of the older kids play volleyball, badminton, and softball."

According to Harvey Poole, Okeechobee Center manager, immediate plans to enhance the center's recreational outlets for residents include construction of a basketball court beside the Assembly Building and completing the softball diamond on the tract of land fronting SR 80.

"The kids who live out here attend Cove Elementary," said Poole. "So it's easier to bring the recreational programs to them than to think of transporting them over to Cove."

A slew of smiles and well-rested with great Mrs. Jenkins, Walker, and occasional smiles. Robert Walker, five days a week. And at 3:30 p.m., drained and damp with perspiration, the young players of the day, return home to rest.

—10 tomorrow.

It's Dawgoned Hot!

Play ball??? Whaddya mean, play ball? This isn't baseball season, at least not so far as I'm concerned. And man, it is hot. What's a matter you no how, ain't you ever seen anybody wearing a baseball hat in the summer? Otherwise, the sun'll fry your brains and you know I'm not just a woffin'. Now, if Jimmy'll just lugan, I'll find a shady spot to curl up in and pass the heat of the day. Go play baseball or get some cold lemon ade and lamme at that shade.

Center Receives Grant

The Glades Rehabilitation Center's books moved another $1,000 in the black this week when Quaker Oats donated a check in that amount to the center. Presenting the check, above, was Quaker Oats Personnel Manager Merle Eastman. Accepting the donation was Palm Beach County Rehabilitation Director Robert Benedict as Eva Reese, the Glades Center's counselor, looks on. Benedict said the center will receive a new acting director Monday when Robert Karpal, formerly with the Palm Beach County School system's educational television center. Eastman said the donation was made as part of the company's community involvement program and he hoped it would provide the incentive for other local organizations and corporations.

Three Local Boys at Ridgcrest

Three Belle Glade boys are spending two weeks at Camp Ridgcrest for Boys in the South Carolina mountains. Clay and Keri Connell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Connell of 939 S.E. Third, and Bill Evans, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy R. Evans, Jr., are ending their first summer at camp. Ridgcrest offers activities as tennis, horseback riding, archery, riflery, basketball, swimming and canoeing, crafts and outdoor living. The three are also taking several day hikes and over-

Glaucoma Tests Offered

Free glaucoma tests will be offered Tuesday at the Belle Glade offices of the Palm Beach County Health Department. The tests, designed to find whether a person has the eye disease, will be offered from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the local facility, located at 1884 N.W. Ave. D.

Couple Exchange Vows

Miss Mary Patricia Martin, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Simon B. Martin, Sr. of 1424 N.W. Ave. G, Belle Glade, and Jimmy Dale Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Brooks of 1433 N.W. Ave. G, Belle Glade, were united in a double-ring wedding ceremony June 28, in the Choctaw Missionary Baptist Church.

The bride's father officiated. However, her grandfather, the Rev. M.M. Martin stood in while the bride was given away by her father.

Beneath an arching candelabra with arrangements of gladioli and carnations, the bride wore a formal floor-length bridal gown of white satin, with bodice and sleeves of chamois lace. Her long train, also of satin, was trimmed with hand-embroidered lace, and she carried a spray of white baby carnations, accented with fern.

Miss Kathleen Brooks, sister of the groom and maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of soft pink with ruffled trimmings. She carried a spring bouquet of carnations and fern. Donnie Jackson, cousin of the groom, was the best man and usher. He was Banks Martin, brother of the bride and Troy Howard of Cleveland.

Music for the occasion was provided by organist, Marie Marie Pierce of Miami, and both Mercer of Palatka.

The children in the Belle Glade Municipal Library's summer reading program continued to follow the Reader Around the World last Tuesday, July 2, as they visited Mexico.

The movie "Mexico: the land and the people" helped the children to better understand our neighbor to the south. It showed that Mexico is a land of many contrasts, such as farmers and aristocrats, the village and the city, and the old and the new.

The movie also showed the cultural, religious, and economic heritage of Mexico, and all its contrasts are no longer a mystery to the children of Belle Glade.

All travelers get worn out during their journey. The children following the Reader Around the World are no different. So after visiting Mexico they rested by watching "Tuesday's comedy his Leapfrog" the new through "trumpeter" and "Rolie's Trail."

After the stop for rest the Reader continued on his way around the world. First to Italy July 9; then a visit to the story reader July 11; then to the Austria July 13; then to the Lipizzaner horses (July 15); then to an interrelated meeting on reptiles and amphibians (July 16); then for a call on Dr. Seuss (July 22); and the last stop will be a puppet theater to see "The Rhythmic Pig Pie" (July 29); to which parents are invited.

Children who have not yet begun to follow the Reader Around the World are welcome to do so at any stop until July 26. Don't forget to come and follow the reader around the world.

You know how high the cost of housing has gone.

For us, too.

The American dream house is more expensive than ever. Especially in Florida. In just the past year, the average price of a new home has gone up 12%. Yet like they say, people have to live somewhere.

This is where FPL comes in. Because your housing needs determine our housing needs. To serve your increasing need for electricity, we have to house new substations and power plants. And the cost of our housing has gone up, too.

It's gone up against our will and our strenuous efforts to keep costs down. We have an Engineering Department whose primary function is to build substations at the lowest possible costs. We believe they have worked out the most efficient systems of any utility company in the country. Yet no system can absorb the inflated costs of today.

To bring electricity to your home, FPL must build substations, relay points between your home and the power plant. And the substation that cost us $688,070 in 1973 now costs close to $920,000.

An examination of just one of our interests will help you why. Reinforcement steel rose from $161.40 a ton in 1973 to $278.00 in 1974. Almost all of our costs have gone up. Fuel, equipment, vehicle maintenance and even the cost of borrowing the money to build the facilities.

FPL is trying to keep costs down. The economies we have devised work. The simple fact is that without them costs would have been a lot higher. We have blunted the edge of inflation. But there comes a point where to cut any further would seriously hinder our ability to serve you.

FPL cannot predict the future of the economy. We do not know if inflation will continue as it has in the past. We do know that we will continue to bring you the electricity you need. At the lowest possible cost.

FPL People...serving people.

Q. My pine trees are dying. Is this the pine bark beetle?

A. Pine bark beetles are the major pest of native pine trees in this area. The adult beetles are dark brown to black and no larger than a grain of rice. They can cause severe damage to the pines, ultimately resulting in the death of the trees.

Active pine bark beetles may be detected by examining the trunks of pine trees. If there are pitch tubes the beetles are active in the tree. Pitch tubes are an excrement of a mosquito, used to seal the entrance to the tree. Pitch tubes are an excrement of a mosquito, used to seal the entrance to the tree.

Pine bark beetles first attack those trees that have been damaged or set back by fire, drought, or by construction activities which injure the roots of the trees. After the pine needles are yellow on the any problem with pine bark beetles. When clearing land on which pine trees are to be left for landscaping (1) do not add or remove soil over the roots; (2) do not allow heavy equipment to run over and pack soil over roots; (3) remove and destroy immediately trees felled for clearing.

During drought, make heavy application of water. After storms repair all tree damage, and remove and destroy trees blown down or killed by lightning.

The spray should be applied to the bark so that all of the cracks in the bark as well as the bark itself, are thoroughly covered with the insecticide. Such materials as Lindane or DDT are effective. Normally, spray about every 3 1/2 months is sufficient except in periods of heavy rainfall, when the spray may need to be repeated in 8 to 10 weeks. Prevention of damage to pine trees will reduce or eliminate

Engagement Set

Dr. and Mrs. G.R. Townsend, of Deland, former Belle Glade residents, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Eva, to Clyde Brooks Martin, of Winter Park.

Aspey-Wester

Wed in June

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Aspey are proud to announce the marriage of their son, William F. Aspey, to Mrs. Helen Wester of Gainesville, Fla. on June 17.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Allison Folds of Gainesville.

They are planning to make their home in Belle Glade.

Local Students Graduate

Four Belle Glade residents were among approximately 6,400 students to receive degrees from Florida State University during commencement exercises held June 8 in Dink Campbell Stadium on the Tallahassee campus.

Graduating were Kathleen Ellen Murphy of 1101 N.E. First Street, Belle Glade, who received a BME degree in Music Education; Doris C. Hill of 801 S.W. 12th Street, Belle Glade, who received a BA degree in Communications; Cynthia Jan Thibodeau, who received a BS degree in Education for Special Needs; and Roseanne Wood, of 916 N.W. 4th Street, Belle Glade, who received a BA degree in Psychology.

Miss Wood also is listed as an honor roll student whose grade average was "B" or "A" for all courses taken during the final quarter.

Poe Portrayed

Actor Robert Minford will be featured in a one-man show on the life and work of Edgar Allan Poe during an assembly at 8 p.m. July 12 in the auditorium at Palm Beach Junior College. The show, "Journey to Eldorado," is a composite of Poe's work, including brief, shattering monologues in the author's life. An off-Broadway "Obie" award winner, Minford has appeared on Perry Mason, Route 66, Gunsmoke and Dr. Kildare, as well as having a two-year role in Rawhide. The show soon will be aired on national television by the Public Broadcasting Corporation.

Hurricane Procedures Outlined

Floridians who have never experienced a real block-buster hurricane may well be looking for guidance on surviving such storms now that we're into the state's "official" five month hurricane season. And they will want something more than gulps about pouring the hourglass.

According to the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, flooding is the greatest threat to life and property generated by a hurricane, but winds that sometimes reach over 100 miles per hour can also kill and destroy.

Protection from them can be assured only if each individual has taken the proper precautions before they arrive.

Three simple safety procedures and rules are clearly outlined in the new "Freddy's Hurricane Guide," published as a public service and available at no charge from the Public Information Department, Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, P.O. Box 1, West Palm Beach, Florida 33402.

The 30-page Hurricane Guide also contains information concerning the history of major killer hurricanes that have battered Florida, a special hurricane tracking map, and a report of advance hurricane detection and tracking by the National Hurricane Center in Miami.

As of June 1, PCD personnel automatically went to hurricane standby status to help protect central and south Florida residents from flood waters that might be produced by a hurricane.

DURALITE

FOR MASONRY

Seals, protects and gives beautiful color to all masonry surfaces, such as brick, cement block, stucco and asbestos siding. DURALITE ACRYLIC HOUSE PAINT produces a "breathing" type film which allows moisture within the substrate to escape in the form of vapor while protecting the surface from water from the outside.

... AND WOOD

DURALITE ACRYLIC HOUSE PAINT flows so easily to provide a blister-resistant low sheen finish for all wood siding, trim, shingles and paneling. It dries within an hour, greatly reducing the chances of dust or insects sticking to the surface. Whites stay white, colors stay bright, your home stays beautiful year after year.

Also available in WHITE AS-161-00 and BLACK AS-161-01

Hundreds of additional colors available in the Full-Color System.

Two statewide candidates, besides Belle Glade's Dr. John Grady, who is running for the 10th S. Senate, were in town Tuesday in an effort to increase their visibility and voter appeal. Dr. Neil Justin of Boca Raton, who is running against Grady for the Senate seat, was accompanied by Sen. Edward Surway, and Dr. M. E. "Ed" Frank of Tallahassee, who is running for State Comptroller. Harrison, who is running for the streets, was seen on the streets asking
